

FAITH FELLOWSHIP ACADEMY

SEPTEMBER 2023

Dear Parents,

Have you ever taken a moment to appreciate the significance of grandparents in our lives? They can be an invaluable resource for both us as parents and our children. However, we may sometimes forget this in the midst of our busy schedules. This is why I love the idea of Grandparents Day, a special occasion to celebrate and acknowledge the role that grandparents play in our lives.

Grandparents are always eager to hear about their grandchildren's achievements, be it something as simple as a first word or a significant milestone like receiving their twentieth gold star at school.

Encouraging children to reach out to their grandparents and share these exciting moments can be a great way to strengthen their bond. Even if grandparents are far away, children can still connect with them through means like video calls, letters, or recorded messages.

One thing that sets grandparents apart is their unwavering support and enthusiasm for their grandchildren. They take immense pride in their accomplishments and are always their biggest cheerleaders.

Grandparents Day can serve as a reminder to children of how much their grandparents mean to them. Reflecting on shared memories and experiences can inspire them to express their love and appreciation to their grandparents in their own unique way Happy Grandparent's Day!
